Sunrise Corvallis and Our Mission

Sunrise Corvallis is a youth-led, grassroots climate justice organization that has several years of experience integrating policy, community engagement, and direct action. Our mission is to build community and hope for our futures through empowering youth and fighting for systemic climate justice. We are motivated by our shared desire to build a future that is free of fossil fuels and centered around social justice and community development. Sunrise Corvallis is innovative not only in our work, but also in our structure and culture. We have had great success with our non-hierarchical leadership structure, and we have built a culture deeply rooted in mutual support, voluntary responsibility, and collective development. While we are led by youth (<35 yo), we actively include and partner with community members of all ages, which gives us the unique ability to lead with our strengths as youth while learning from the experience of older generations. As an organization, we are constantly adapting to new conditions and striving to improve how we engage with one another and the community.
