

Enabling Demand Response for LMI Communities

Meltek is a NYSERDA-supported demand response aggregator. Meltek aims to utilize the latest technologies to aid in demand response solutions for residential and small commercial customers and reward them for reducing their energy consumption at peak demand times. Meltek's project is targeted specifically at dense urban environments, where pollution is often the greatest, the cost of living the highest, and where much of the Low and Moderate Income (LMI) community comes together. Meltek's solution will provide access to the new world of cryptocurrency and help people help the environment while saving money. In addition, our platform will help develop awareness of how energy affects each of us and vice-versa, as well as enable access to the latest advancements of blockchain technology, cryptocurrencies, and the metaverse.