

Remix: The Soul of InnovationSM and The Footprint Project is collaborating to foster community-led disaster response via community ownership of distributed energy resources (DERs) and microgrids.

Remix (SOI) is a social innovation firm that harnesses the innate hustle, skill and creativity of communities not typically targeted for innovation and catalyze the power of communities to determine their own future.

Footprint Project is a non-profit organization that develops and deploys solar generators to displace fossil fuel generators and support community-led recovery during disaster power outages.

Together, Remix and Footprint will co-create with communities to develop backup energy sources inform by local expertise to strengthen community resilience infrastructure that will aid in an equitable transition to a clean energy economy.

Markese Bryant
(Remix SOI)

John Jordan
(Remix SOI)

Jamie Swezey
(Footprint Project)

