

GearSpy is an open-source software able to run on an SBC to automatically identify C&I DER hardware and hardware configurations across multiple communication protocols and transport layers. Just Set it and Forget it to auto discover legacy and new DER across generations and topologies!

