

Little Growers Inc Community Coalition

- Little Growers Inc MAKE A GREEN NOISE Environmental Justice Forums are designed to develop a Community Food Entrepreneurship and Climate Resilience Coalition
- The goal of the coalition is to build and develop key partner capacity to evaluate and incorporate trusted approaches to share information with residents that help them make informed decisions about their climate and environmental future.
- These initiatives will bring together lived and learned experience to outline and plan a strategic approach to; decrease energy burden, decrease environmental exposure and burdens, increase clean energy jobs, job pipeline, and job training for individuals, increase energy resiliency, and increase energy democracy
- The project will create a Technical Advisory Panel engaging multiple regional experts, scientists, researchers, policy makers, and residents to identify, prioritize, and test the viability of specific, nature-based coastal resilience projects which are sustainable and suitable for federal, state or local funding while improving habitats for fish and wildlife.
- The plans developed during this process will be presented to city and county governments to inform development of local and county wide comprehensive plans that have climate and environmental impacts on our communities.
