

Social Equity Sustainability Coalition

SES was formed in response to the unmet need for sustainability education and training designed for businesses in the cannabis industry. While the need is industry wide, Social Equity business owners, individuals/business owners who were formerly incarcerated for marijuana possession or who live in communities with disproportionate arrest rates for marijuana possession, in particular need support. SES is committed to supporting these minority business owners in addressing sustainability and energy efficiency.

