

Machine Learning for Probabilistic Forecasting

We have developed machine learning based forecasting algorithms that have been tested in the field and verified by leading national labs including EPRI and NREL.

Our framework consists of models that can optimize point forecast metrics as well as probabilistic forecast metrics such as the CRPS.

