

SHAKE ENERGY COLLABORATIVE

Women-owned public benefit corporation based in Honolulu, Hawai'i, founded in 2019

Community-designed, community-owned, clean energy

With our backgrounds in human-centered design, we've honed our practice for co-designing a project with local residents to ensure the project fits best into the local ecosystem and matches local values.

We nurture the formation of community-led cooperatives in historically disinvested communities, particularly Native Hawaiian communities. We help raise mission-aligned capital to fund the community-designed projects to break the cycle of extractive electricity economics.

Within the last quarter, Shake has lead the development for contracts from the utility for the first 3 community-owned solar projects in Hawai'i totaling over 10 MW. We look forward to building a federated cooperative to expand the community ownership model.
