

HYDRORIDGE

Something new under the sun

- A rooftop device that heats water from the sun and hot air exhausted from attic space
- Cuts energy costs
- Lightweight, durable, virtually maintenance free
- Low visibility once installed
- Can withstand winds to 150mph
- Very low capitalization
- Low installation costs
- Becomes a part of the roof envelope

