

Empowering St John

Our team aims to bring together investors, community stakeholders, businesses, and non-profit organizations in order to install a pilot scale modular anaerobic digester on St John USVI. The unit will be used to process organic waste, sourced from businesses in the community. This project will both increase energy resilience for this island community and reduce waste entering the landfills.