

The Wave Catcher is an innovative wave energy device that catches waves in the surf zone to produce a 100-fold increase in performance over a contemporary WEC. Simple to deploy without the need for a deployment craft, lightweight extremely robust and easy to tune.

The Wave Cacher produces high pressure water that is fed directly into a reverse osmosis unit to generate pure drinking water for use in emergency situations